Tinti - Enthusiasm and fun with water

Brand promise

We create different sensory experiences and adventures for children with our products – from bright colours, mountains of foam and bubbles through to crackling and popping in the water.

Tinti can be used in countless situations that extend far beyond the bathtub. Wash basins, paddling pools, bowls or buckets are very quickly transformed into a play experience with Tinti. Three things that shape our business as the market leader are particularly important to Tinti:

We understand children

Children can still be children with Tinti. Tinti products combine playing, growing up and learning from an educational point of view. They encourage children's natural instincts and children's enthusiasm creates a relaxing atmosphere for parents at the same time. Tinti products are not just loved by children, but are also recommended by mums and dads. Our Tinti products appeal to all children with emotional packs as well as gifts and stickers to collect.

Nature and sustainability are important to us

Children's skin is delicate and sensitive. For this reason, our Tinti products are developed specially for children based on the highest quality requirements. It goes without saying that Tinti uses natural ingredients and avoids synthetic preservatives or parabens/phthalates. We only use natural colours or food colouring for our products and we focus on environmental compatibility and biodegradability with all raw materials. A social commitment to children is just as important to us as products that have excellent skin compatibility and do not discolour the skin or bathtub.

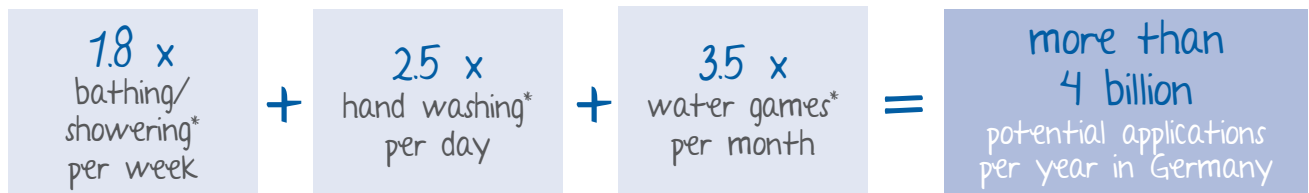

Innovation is our passion

We are constantly developing new ideas and experiences for children thanks to our passion. The Tinti range not only impresses with its unique diversity of products and colours. Our products also stimulate all senses – from seeing, hearing and feeling through to smelling. Also, because children love surprises, we are the only supplier in the market to incorporate this into our products. We are delighted to receive awards for our innovations, but the feedback from our youngest customers motivates us the most to keep creating new products for children.

Potential

We offer our trading partners enormous market potential with Tinti through the daily and weekly use of products in a wide variety of situations. In Germany, for example, there are living more than 4 million children in the core target group of 3 to 8 years.

Tinti has the right product for all of these applications. Whether it's with a bathtub, shower, wash basin or even with a cup or bucket, Tinti products are fun. Tinti offers emotional impulse products at attractive prices to boost purchases with the same frequency of customers. Tinti appeals to parents, encouraging them to buy, as the products are ideal as safe, high-quality and educationally valuable toys.

What about the potential in your country?
